First Down with Fr. Eric

Dear Friends,

This past Friday was July 4th, Independence Day for our country. When one studies our history during that time, we might learn two major lessons. One would be the tremendous amount of courage and risk taken by those who signed the Declaration of Independence. To sign such a document meant that each person would be arrested and most likely be put to death for treason. Usually, we gloss over the actual history by simply thinking they signed a document. Secondly, the amount of luck that was needed to begin this country. An Army that on paper would be no match against the British. Somehow, these men would put up a huge fight and eventually win over the British army. Many things needed to fall into place to make sure this country could begin.

I just share these two thoughts that I reflect on each 4th of July. Our country is in need of recapturing courage, not being afraid to take a risk, and standing up for good principles.

Secondly, we must not be discouraged when it seems the odds are against us in recapturing what was once good about our country. The first word in our country's name is United. Yet we see so many examples of people unwilling to work towards any kind of unity, each only looking out for their own interests.

Every country goes through ups and downs, and I think we can recapture the ideals that once were the cornerstone of our country.

Freedom from fear, inclusion of the many in seeking the common good. Making the word "united" central to our country.

I will still enjoy some hot dogs, watching fireworks, and some baseball, and at the same time, I will remember the story of how this country began.

Peace in Christ,

Fr. Eric

Christian Disciples in Mission Living Beyond Sunday

BY ERIC TAMAYO,
Pastoral Associate

St. Benedict: The Father of Western Monasticism

On Thursday July 11, the Church celebrates the feast day of St. Benedict of Nursia. St. Benedict made a lasting impact in the early life of the Church and is often referred to as the "Father of Western Monasticism". Born in 480 to a wealthy family, Benedict was sent to study in Rome where he was confronted by the loose morals of the other students. After a short time Benedict left the world to live a solitary life at Subiaco. After living in a cave in the mountains for two years as a hermit, he had acquired such a reputation that disciples came in numbers to join him and important Roman families entrusted him with the education of their children. He then organized a form of life for those who joined him and under his guidance the monks vowed to seek God and devoted themselves to work and prayer. A few years later he founded the great abbey of Monte Casino on a hilltop in Campania, Italy. His monastic movement soon attracted more and more people who were looking to live their faith more deeply. He wanted to create a model of monastic life that would make it possible for ordinary men to follow every day. He also wanted to create a community with the abbot as the father guiding the monks in the daily practice of work and prayer. This became central to Benedictine spirituality, ora et labora, work and pray.

One of the most important aspects of St. Benedict's rule of life was "prefer nothing to the love of Christ." St. Benedict was a prime example of what loving God above all else looks like. To prefer nothing to the love of Christ means always putting Christ first, it means trusting in the providence of God. This is never an easy thing to do but by making work and prayer a means of encountering God, we see how God is present in every moment of life. By centering God in our life, even the daily work we do can become transformed into bringing us closer to God. Benedict also viewed hospitality as a vital part of Christian living. He encourages, "let all guests who arrive be received as Christ." This is another great example and reminder of how we are challenged to recognize Christ in the stranger.

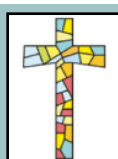

St. Benedict died in 547 but left a lasting impression on the Church and the entire world. St. Benedict shows how community, work, and prayer are essential to growing in relation with God. I encourage you this week to learn more about the life of St. Benedict, and why it is so important for us to prefer nothing to the love of Christ.

Stewardship

Stewardship

In today's gospel, Jesus sends out the seventy-two disciples to proclaim the Kingdom of God, instructing them to travel lightly and rely on the hospitality of others. This passage highlights our call to be missionary disciples, sent forth to use our gifts in service of the Gospel. Stewardship involves not only giving generously of our time, talent, and treasure, but also trusting that God will provide what we need as we do His work. The joy of the disciples upon returning—celebrating not just their success, but their belonging in the Kingdom—reminds us that true stewardship flows from relationship with Christ and results in lasting spiritual fruit.

How am I using the gifts God has given me to share His love and build His Kingdom today?

ROCK45 is off for the summer and will resume in the Fall. In the meantime, we'll share some fun, creative ways to nurture your tweens' faith this summer. Enjoy!

One of our families' favorite things to do on vacation is attend Mass in the area. Over the years we have been able to see some amazing churches, experience music like never before, and share in the culture of an area to its fullest.

At Holy Rosary in Paia, Maui we were greeted with shell lei's and invited to bring up the gifts. The music at Our Lady of Divine Providence in Providenciales, Turks and Caicos included steel drums that filled the church with amazing sound. In Beaver Creek, Colorado the Interfaith Chapel hosts a Catholic Mass on the weekends and the view of the surrounding area is just breathtaking.

When on vacation this summer, don't take "a vacation" from Sunday Mass, instead, go exploring the Catholic church in the area and take the family on an adventure! You never know what God has in store. - Diane Kar
